I hereby declare that the manuscript I have submitted to this journal – Territorial Identity and Development – for review:

- is my original research and work. Plagiarism is not involved and it observes all principles of ethics;
- has not been published elsewhere and it is not currently being considered for review or publication elsewhere in another language;
- I quoted information according to the sources I used and these appear in the list of references;
- I obtained written approval from all authors of the copyright materials quoted in my paper (text, photographs, graphs, maps, images, tables, etc.).

I assume whole responsibility for the contents of this manuscript presented to the Editorial Board, in one copy, electronic form, and I am responsible for any disparities related to the above-mentioned issues.

Authors retain the copyright, while Territorial Identity and Development is to be recognized as the first publisher of this paper.
